It feels great to be sharing the platform with fellow panelists as we collectively reimagine the new avenues of transforming the education system for our children. Opportunities such as these are important for exchanging ideas, fostering collaborations, and engaging in improvement initiatives as a community. I'm looking forward to creating meaningful connections and uncovering novel ideas."

MS KHUSHBOO AWASTHI

"At its core, this program elates my curiosity to learn the insights of what academicians, socialists and educationalists bring to the audience. The program correlates with the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals. This sure will throw light into the economic and developmental tracks a community can work towards in order to provide not only world class but also an inclusive platform for all learners in the future."

MS LAURETTA PHILIP

MS SNEHA ARUNKUMAR

"Being a final year BA student at Christ University, Bengaluru, I'm honored to be part of the LUD conference, representing students like myself who need inclusivity and equal opportunities in education. With technology and research advancements, there's a greater scope for providing holistic education. Participating in LUD will broaden my perspective, allow me to share my views, and gain knowledge. I'm excited to meet individuals from different countries and experience their unique worldview. Overall, I'm thrilled to connect and learn through this platform.."
